The BlueBay Destra International Event-Driven Credit Fund is operated as an interval fund. Pursuant to its interval fund structure, the Fund will conduct quarterly repurchase offers, at net asset value ("NAV"), of no less than 5% and no more than 25% of the Fund's outstanding shares. Typically, the Fund will conduct such quarterly repurchase offers for 5% of the Fund's outstanding shares. Repurchase offers in excess of 5% are made solely at the discretion of the Fund's board of trustees and investors should not rely on any expectation of repurchase offers in excess of 5%. It is also possible that a repurchase offer may be oversubscribed, with the result that Shareholders may only be able to have a portion of their shares repurchased. Accordingly, although the Fund will make quarterly repurchase offers, investors should consider the Fund's shares to be of limited liquidity.

Investors will pay offering expenses and, with regard to those share classes that impose a front-end sales load, a sales load of up to 5.75% for Class A Shares, up to 4.25% for Class L Shares and up to 3.00% for Class T Shares. You will have to receive a total return at least in excess of these expenses to receive an actual return on your investment.

Risk Considerations

There are risks involved with any investment. The principal risks associated with an investment in the Fund, which could adversely affect its net asset value, yield and return, are set forth below. Please see the section "Further Information About Principal Risks" in the Prospectus for a more detailed discussion of these risks and other factors you should carefully consider before deciding to invest in the Fund. An investment in the Fund may lose money and is not a deposit of a bank or insured or guaranteed by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation or any other governmental agency. Investment Strategy Risk: The Investment Adviser uses the Fund's principal investment strategies and other investment strategies to seek to achieve the Fund's investment objective of long-term growth of capital. There is no assurance that the Investment Adviser's investment strategies or securities selection method will achieve that investment objective.

Because of the risks associated with investing in high-yield securities, an investment in the Fund should be considered speculative. An investment in interval funds involves a high degree of risk. In particular: The fund's shares will not be listed on an exchange in the foreseeable future, if at all. It is not anticipated that a secondary market for shares will develop and an investment in an interval fund is not suitable for investors who may need the money they invest within a specified time frame. Interval Funds are suitable only for investors who can bear the risks associated with the fund's limited liquidity and should be viewed as a long-term investment. The amount of distributions that the fund may pay, if any, is uncertain. The fund may pay distributions in significant part from sources that may not be available in the future and that are unrelated to the fund's performance, such as a return of capital, borrowings or expense reimbursements and waivers. Interval funds may use leverage which may cause a portfolio to liquidate positions when it may not be advantageous to do so to satisfy its obligations or to meet segregation requirements. Leverage, including borrowing, may cause a portfolio to be more volatile than if the portfolio had not been leveraged.

Under normal market conditions, the Fund will invest at least 80% of its total assets (including borrowings for investment purposes) in credit related instruments and/or investments that have similar economic characteristics as credit related instruments that are considered by the Fund to have the potential to provide a high level of total return. Credit related instruments include bonds, debt securities and loans issued by various U.S. and non-U.S. public- or private-sector entities, including issuers in emerging markets, derivatives and cash equivalents. There is no limit on the credit quality, duration or maturity of any investment in the Fund's portfolio. Under normal market conditions, the Fund will invest at least 40% of its total assets in securities of non-U.S. issuers.
